Hello brothers and sisters in Christ and fellow prayer partners,

Here is another short movie review from the FEDBP ministry team. This one is on the film that was only in the US theaters for 2 days in April 2019 – a film celebrating the supposed large and world-wide influence of a crusader friend of Billy Graham, a man named Luis Palau.

As far as a movie, the movie would seem to be okay – just the average Follywood polished film about a white-washed mass “preacher of the gospel”... but if you listen to all of the details and watch what he did, you see that things aren’t quite as they seem. For sake of brevity, I will try to just give you the facts that show up in this film and the facts that we know about him from seeing him in person at 2 of his festivals.

Luis Palau, born in 1934, grew up in Argentina (Nazi and NWO base) a rich family (depicted only briefly in the film), but his Dad died at an early age for him from seemingly some form of heat exhaustion or heart-attack... if drinking was involved, it was very hidden, but since it is a very Catholic family, it was likely involved. Luis’ Mom had to make ends meet and try to keep her children in school – which meant sometimes all they had to eat was a few potatoes (as shown in the film). But that quickly changed when (amazingly, and mysteriously), Luis landed a job at the branch of the Bank of London. He was quickly climbing his way up the ladder (and the financial one too), when he “felt the call of God” to read a few verses on the radio and give a short pep-talk to the “unbelieving” people of his city. This quickly became a popular show. Then he decided to try street-preaching with this lukewarm “God wants you to be happy” false gospel, and he found that slow but eventually a success as well. Quickly, he was noticed by a traveling stranger or two who offered him a free scholarship to come to America and get a seminary “education” at Dallas Theological. He politely declined that offer for several months (at least). Then when another traveler came to visit his family, he found himself being reasoned by his family and friends to consider full time ministry work. After thinking on it for a little while longer, he heard Billy Graham on the radio and agreed he wanted to do the same thing. It was in the US that he finally decided to leave the whole banking idea behind and start preaching on the streets or whatever missionary work he could find. About 10 years later and having found a wife (Patricia), they both agreed to go back to South America to “preach the gospel”... Only problem with this dream is that he was first stationed in Mexico. He and his wife tried to make do and try to make some progress in making their false gospel popular, but it wasn’t working. Then Luis learned from a traveling speaker that he needed to stop trying to do his own agenda and just “trust God”... which really meant trust those who have been doing mega-“church” and massive false gospel “crusades” such as Billy Graham. When Luis heard this and agreed to it, almost magically his fortune turned to be more favorable. Luis and Pat were invited to be involved in the soon-coming Billy Graham “crusade” to his town. What he didn’t yet know is that Jesuit Billy Graham had already arranged for Luis to be his translator on stage, and for his wife Pat to coordinate the buses of people arriving – both higher paying jobs with the crusade. From that time on, seemingly in or just after 1966, Billy and Luis were good and long-lasting friends – both Jesuits, Billy using English, and Luis using Spanish. From there Luis was giving the “seed money” to do his own first “crusade” in Columbia.

>> [The details of Billy Graham being a Jesuit are not that hard to find, but many reject it outright because he is said to be a “Protestant” preacher... but even the word “crusade” and his close friendship with Pope John Paul II who called him a “good brother” shows this to be lie. Look into all of the details of Billy Graham being a Jesuit and promoting the worst false gospel lies since the 1970s and 1980s and you will find that the radio personality that everyone seems to think he is, is a farse. Same with Luis Palau – Jesuit/Catholic trained, white-washed for us “Protestants”.]

From this “seed money” of $100,000 every 3 months, Luis and Pat (and a few other long-time friends) started to work on how to “massive reach” the capital city of Columbia with “the gospel”. Yet even as they were working on their first “crusade”, hidden Jesuits were stirring other things. You see, in the 1970s, the country of Columbia was in great turmoil as they were trying to get rid of one corrupt Vatican/CIA-installed tyrant, but another one was being offered, or the other alternative was “anarchy” and “atheism”. If you know how the Vatican and the “intelligence agencies” work, then you already know that the civil wars are always caused by and urged on by the Jesuits and their psyops and fellow saboteurs within that country, or from the US’s CIA. So, simply put, the capital city was under turmoil, large riots were being planned where provocateurs were going to create enough havoc so that the riot patrol could come in and establish a form of dictatorship called “martial law”. So, the people have 2 options: 1) keep the corrupt government as is, or 2) take tyranny or another Vatican/CIA-tyrant. But, that’s where Luis Palau comes in.

Even in this white-washed movie, Palau had already been promised complete protection. From whom? The movie doesn’t fill that in, but we can. You see, unknown to all of us, Palau, being a close associate of Jesuit Billy Graham, was now the spiritual mafia leader being sent in by the Vatican. From the Vatican’s perspective, they were coercing everyone to choose between 2 choices – 1) some form of anarchy or dictatorship, or 2) being coerced into accepting Vatican false gospel and Catholic beliefs. That sounds like something the muslims do, but when you remember that Islam was created by the Vatican and used to control the muslims to continue their “Holy Roman Empire” wars, now the whole picture makes sense. It’s “forced” or shall we say “coerced” proselytizing to Catholicism, or else... So, of course now that Palau was the key “crusader” here, all of the hidden Jesuit agents were going to work to protect him, without getting caught for their role. That is the secrecy and power of the Jesuits. Look up the Jesuit oath. That “ancient oath” is the same one used today – yes the Vatican still demands the “right” to rule the world, and that Jesuit oath is an active oath. The late Jack Chick’s Comics in the “Alberto” series, among other books, are very, very helpful for figuring out what is really going on in these rewritten history events. You can find an extensive list of old history books covering the key topics of Jesuits, Masons, and NWO tactics, here: <https://www.incpu.org/books.htm>

So, the “good news” is that the people gladly accepted Luis Palau and his company of 1,000 false gospel “crusaders”, and instead of anarchy, everyone settled for accepting Catholicism, or maybe a slight Protestant version of it, and Luis Palau had now made a name for himself. He then started getting notoriety and being asked to lead “crusades” in other South American countries, then around the world. If you listen to any of Luis Palau’s so-called “gospel” presentations, you will find that he doesn’t know that gospel message Jesus preached. He has a “God loves you and has a wonderful plan for your life” to entice people with greed to his false gospel. And attract people he does – by the tens of thousands all around the world. Luis has now set up his radio show at over 1700 radio stations and in over 50 countries with his flattering false gospel and pep-talks, which in the Catholic world would be called “homilies”. Palau has gotten to meet the top heads of state, because he grants them that if they confess to him (as a Catholic “father”), their sins “are forgiven”, which is depicted a few times in the film itself. Palau has also worked, alongside Billy Graham, to get thousands of Protestant and Catholic “churches” to work in unity for his false gospel “crusades”. This team writing this post has participated in 2 festivals: 1 in Orlando and 1 in Tampa. We also caught him giving the names of people who were “looking for a church home” to a local Jesuit named Joel C. Hunter, whom we had the opportunity to warn Luis Palau of personally. Didn’t matter, Jesuits all work together, and then lie to cover – which Luis and his team did just that. We were shocked, but couldn’t fully understand it, until now seeing this film.

Other notes, Luis was basically granting salvation to the unsaved actor who played him on this film, because he played the part of a preacher. That’s the false gospel Luis Palau preaches. Legacy? No. He is a false teacher and fake “evangelist”/“missionary”, taking many to Hell and the Lake of Fire with his soothing false gospel and false visions/teachings about God.
